

Investment Objective

The investment objective of the Regan Fixed Rate MBS ETF (the “Fund”) is current income. The Fund seeks to provide current income by investing primarily in fixed rate residential mortgage-backed securities (“RMBS”).

Why MBSX

- Provides exposure to liquid, fixed rate, agency RMBS – which are securities issued, secured, or collateralized by government sponsored entities and backed by residential mortgages.
- Designed to generate current income through monthly dividends.
- The Fund intends to pay out dividends, if any, monthly and distribute any net realized capital gains to its shareholders annually.

NAV Return represents the closing price of underlying securities. Market Return is calculated using the price which investors buy and sell ETF shares in the market. The market returns in the table are based upon the midpoint of the bid/ask spread at 4:00 pm EST, and do not represent the returns you would have received if you traded shares at other times. The performance data quoted represents past performance. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted above. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Disclosures

Important Risks

- Exchange Traded Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. The Fund is newly formed and has no operating history. There is no guarantee that any investment strategy will achieve its objectives, generate profits, or avoid losses.
- The Fund invests in MBS issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or one of its agencies or sponsored entities, some of which may not be backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government. MBS are subject to interest rate, prepayment, and extension risk. MBS are dependent on real estate prices and real estate fundamentals. When real estate prices face a significant decline, the Fund's securities may be negatively affected. Regulatory actions may also have an adverse impact on real estate prices.
- ETFs are subject to additional risks that do not apply to conventional mutual funds, including the risks that the market price of an ETF's shares may trade at a premium or discount to its net asset value, an active secondary trading market may not develop or be maintained, or trading may be halted by the exchange in which they trade, which may impact an ETF's ability to sell its shares. Shares of any ETF are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the ETF. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

Glossary

- Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS): Investment products similar to bonds. Each MBS consists of a bundle of home loans and other real estate debt bought from the banks that issued them. Investors in mortgage-backed securities receive periodic payments similar to bond coupon payments
- SEC 30-Day Yield: The yield is calculated with a standardized formula and represents net investment income earned by a fund over a 30-day period, expressed as an annual percentage rate based on the fund's share price. The yield includes the effect of any fee waivers and/or reimbursements. Without Yield does not reflect the effect of any fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements
- Weighted Average Coupon: The average gross interest rate of the underlying mortgages in a mortgage-backed security at the time it was issued.
- Yield to Maturity (Spot and Forward Curve): The rate of return anticipated on a bond if it is held until the maturity date. YTM is considered a long-term bond yield expressed as an annual rate. The calculation of YTM takes into account the current market price, par value, coupon interest rate and time to maturity. It is also assumed that all the coupons are reinvested at the same rate. Floaters, a large portion of a bond's yield is determined by the prevailing interest rate environment as the bond's coupon changes depending on an underlying benchmark rate. The Spot Curve YTM is assuming the bond's benchmark rate stays the same until the bond's maturity. The Forward Curve YTM assumes that benchmark rates move commensurate with current market projections.
- Interest Rate Duration: Measures the sensitivity of bond prices to change in interest rates. Bonds with higher interest rate duration experience greater price volatility from interest rate movements.
- Effective Spread Duration: Measures the sensitivity of bond prices to change in spreads. Bond with higher effective spread duration experiences greater price volatility from spread movements.
- The Bloomberg US Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) Index tracks fixed rate agency mortgage-backed pass-through securities guaranteed by Ginnie Mae (GNMA), Fannie Mae (FNMA), and Freddie Mac (FHLMC)
- The Bloomberg US Treasury Floating Rate Index measures the performance of floating rate bonds issued by the US Treasury.
- The Bloomberg US Aggregate Index is a broad-based flagship benchmark that measures the investment grade, US dollar denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market.
